George Yule Prize

Conditions of entry:

- Candidates must be currently enrolled postgraduates at a university in Australia or New Zealand, and proof of enrolment will be required on submission of the essay. Candidates must also be financial members of the Association.
- It is expected that the essay will be a written version of a paper presented at the conference. While the aural version must be strictly limited to a delivery length of 20 minutes, a longer word-limit applies to the written version of the paper (see below).
- Essays submitted should be no more than 3500 words long (excluding footnotes), on a topic of the writer's choice within the fields of medieval and early modern studies. Each essay should be adequately footnoted and documented, and include a bibliography.
- The essay will be judged by a panel consisting of the President (ex officio) and two other members of ANZAMEMS, one of who will be either the editor, or the deputy editor, of Parergon.
- In the event that insufficient entries are received, or the standard of entries is not sufficiently high, the judging panel reserves the right not to award a prize for any given conference.
- The winner will receive a travel bursary for assistance in attending the conference, A$500 in prize money (or NZD equivalent), and a year's free subscription to Parergon.
 - The year's free membership to ANZAMEMS will commence on the expiry of the current subscription.
 - The amount of the travel bursary component of the prize will be determined at the discretion of the Conference Organisers, but should be in line with other travel bursaries awarded for the same conference, and should not exceed A$500.
 - Should the winner be resident in the conference host city, the travel bursary may be applied to other travel connected with study, or other expenses associated with attendance at the conference.
- The winner will be given the opportunity to present the paper at a plenary session of the conference.
- The prize will be presented at the conference dinner, to which the winner will receive a complimentary ticket.

- The writer of the winning paper will be encouraged to submit an expanded version of the paper for publication in Parergon, subject to the usual process of refereeing.
- The deadline for submissions will be determined by the conference convenors and advertised during the call-for-papers and registration period.
- Administration of the prize, including arranging payment with the Treasurer, is the responsibility of the Conference Convenors.
- Payment of the prize (i.e., funds) is the responsibility of the Treasurer.
